GPA Formula

All credits (units) registered

 If the GPA is not available by the time of screening, it should be calculated based on grades from the previous semester.

- i. For students in the first semester of their first year in a master's/ doctoral course, academic records from the last year of undergraduate school/ a master's course may be used to calculate GPA.
- ii. Students who took a leave of absence the previous academic year need to calculate GPA using academic records from two years ago. Students who took a leave of absence during the second semester of the previous academic year should calculate GPA using academic records from the first semester of the previous year.

6. If students receive scholarships other than the JASSO Scholarship, it should not exceed 80,000 JPY. Also, if students receive scholarships from multiple organizations, the total amount should not exceed 80,000 JPY excluding travel expenses, loan-type scholarships, or student loans.

- i. "Other scholarships" means stipend paid directly to the student. Stipend paid to the host institution/accommodation as tuition or accommodation fee are not considered "other scholarships."

- ii. If “other scholarships” are not paid monthly, please confirm the amount by converting it to a monthly amount.
- iii. If other scholarships include travel expenses such as airfare, exclude them before converting into a monthly amount and check to see if it does not exceed 80,000 JPY.
- iv. Students cannot receive this JASSO Scholarship along with JASSO’s “Monbukagakusho Honors Scholarship for Privately-Financed International Students” and “Japanese Government (MEXT) Scholarships.”
- v. Please be aware that when receiving “other scholarships,” some scholarship organizations do not allow students to receive them along with this JASSO Scholarship.
- vi. Scholarships awarded by other organizations such as the home university, which are irrelevant to the studying abroad or not are not recognized as “other scholarships” in this case.
